POPE FRANCIS

An Excerpt from the GENERAL AUDIENCE
Wednesday, 25 October 2017

Dear Brothers and Sisters: This is the final catechesis on the theme of Christian hope, which has accompanied us since the beginning of this liturgical year. I shall conclude by speaking about Paradise, as the aim of our hope.

"Paradise" is one of the last words spoken by Jesus on the Cross, addressed to the good thief. Let us pause for a moment on this scene. On the Cross, Jesus is not alone. Beside him, on the right and on the left, there are two criminals. Perhaps, passing before those three crosses raised on Golgotha, one drew a sigh of relief, thinking that at last justice had been done by putting such people to death.

Next to Jesus is even a confessed criminal: one who recognizes that he deserved that dreadful torture. We call him the "good thief", who, as opposed to the other, says: "we are receiving the due reward of our deeds" (Lk 23:41). On Calvary, on that tragic and holy Friday, Jesus reaches the finality of his Incarnation, of his solidarity with we sinners. Fulfilled there is what the Prophet Isaiah had said of the suffering Servant: "he was numbered with the transgressors" (cf. 53:12; cf Lk 22:37).

STEWARDSHIP MOMENT: NOVEMBER 5, 2017—31ST SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME "Whoever exalts himself will be humbled; but whoever humbles himself will be exalted." - Matthew 23:12 Jesus gave His life to serve, not to be served. Putting other's needs before our own needs is a sign of becoming a mature disciple, of following Jesus' example. Humility is really a sign of a strength. By putting other's needs first we declare to the world that we are putting our complete trust in God. When we align our thoughts and actions with God's plan for us, the result is joy and peace.
