POPE FRANCIS
GENERAL AUDIENCE

St. Peter's Square
Wednesday, 6 November 2019

Dear Brothers and Sisters: In our catechesis on the Acts of the Apostles, we now see the Apostle Paul preaching before the Areopagus in Athens, the cultural capital of the pagan world. In a city filled with idols, Paul proclaims the Gospel by appealing to the religiosity of his hearers and their desire to know the truth. Seeing an altar dedicated to an "unknown god", Paul states that God, the transcendent Creator of the world, has indeed made himself known, and sent his Son among us to call all people to conversion and the fullness of truth. Yet when Paul begins to speak of Christ's death and resurrection, his listeners lose interest. The mystery of the cross, in which God's wisdom and power are revealed, appears as folly in the eyes of the Greeks (cf. 1 Cor 1:23). Yet Paul's preaching bears fruit in the conversion of some Athenians, including Dionysius the Areopagite and Damaris. As we think of our own culture, may we, like Paul, be sensitive to people's deepest yearnings in order to propose the mystery of Christ and his saving love.

STEWARDSHIP MOMENT—NOVEMBER 10, 2019 – 32nd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME: "May our Lord Jesus Christ himself and God our Father, who has loved us and given us everlasting encouragement and good hope through his grace, encourage your hearts and strengthen them in every good deed and word." - 2 THESSALONIANS 2:16-17 There are two important lessons here. First, we are called to be generous with our encouragement and hope. As God shows us mercy, we must be merciful to others. Second, joy is contagious! The joy we receive from doing good works not only strengthens us, it encourages others as well. Share the joy of living your faith whenever you can.
