Body Building: Scott Hahn Reflects on the Dedication of the Lateran Basilica in Rome

Why commemorate a church dedication that happened in fourth-century Rome? First, because St. John Lateran is no ordinary church—it’s the cathedral church of the Pope and still known as “the mother of all the world’s churches.”

But more than that, because God has from all time intended the church building to be a symbol of His Church and our bodies. This is what the readings for today’s feast invite us to consider. God’s prototype for the church is the Jerusalem Temple, described in this week’s First Reading and Psalm. It’s God’s “holy dwelling,” site of His presence in our midst, source of “living waters”—of all life and blessing. But God intended the Temple to give way to the Body of Christ.

That’s what our Lord’s words and actions in Sunday’s Gospel are intended to dramatize. Christ’s Body is now the dwelling of God’s “glory” among us. It’s the new source of living waters, the living bread, the new sanctuary where people will worship in Spirit and truth. By Baptism, we are joined to His Body in the Church.

Sunday’s Epistle says the Spirit of God comes to dwell in us and makes us “God’s building...the temple of God”. Jesus drove out the sellers of oxen, sheep, and doves, signaling an end to the animal sacrifices that formed the worship of the old Temple. In the spiritual worship of the new Temple, we offer our bodies—our whole beings—as a living sacrifice. Like living stones built on the cornerstone of Christ, together we are called to build up the new Temple of God, the Church.

As the Jerusalem Temple was, so the Church will always be under construction—until at last it is perfected in the new Jerusalem, our mother Church, come down from heaven.

UNDONE: FREEDOM FOR THE FEMININE HEART (Women’s Healing Retreat) November 20-22, Sts. Anne and Joachim Church, Fargo: Ladies, every one of us was made by God to be loved perfectly at all times, but because none of us actually experience that in the way that God desires for us, every one of us carries wounds in greater or lesser ways. However, through Jesus Christ’s redemptive sacrifice, these wounds can actually be radically transformed into portals of grace, freedom, and new life. The Undone Women’s Retreat is all about allowing Jesus to work new wonders and bring that fullness of life that He came to give and that everyone one of us longs for. Undone: Freedom for the Feminine Heart is presented by the John Paul II Healing Center around the world and will most likely not be back in our area again. This retreat is available in person at Sts. Anne and Joachim Catholic Church, Fargo, via livestream from wherever you are, or even as a hybrid of the two. Find more information at www.fargodiocese.org/undone.
